Through the kindness of Dr. Rich of Milwaukee, Wis., and Songo Pond, Albany, Ray Hanscom of Greenwood now has a nearly complete collection of Maine automobile license plates. 1916 is the only year missing. Dr. Rich recently gave him several very old Maine plates, also a 1940 Wisconsin plate.

THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

President Roosevelt placed airplane fuels under export control limiting shipment to points in the Western Hemisphere, the British Empire and unoccupied territories of countries resisting aggression. Secretary Hull told his press conference any move of Japan into Thailand would be a matter of concern to the United States. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced the lend-lease administration has ordered 10,000,000 yards of cotton grey goods to make uniforms for Chinese soldiers.

Aid to Russia

The State Department announced extension of the trade agreement between the U. S. S. R. and the United States until August 6, 1942, to insure "continuance during the emergency period of our established commercial relations with the Soviet Union on the basis of the 1937 commercial agreement." Russia will pay cash or will earmark gold for all materials bought, the Department said.

Silk

The Office of Production management "froze" all silk supplies in the country because minimum requirements of the Army and Navy for silk powder bags and parachutes will consume total stocks. Price Administrator Henderson said the action should not result in retail stocking price increases.

Power

Consumer Administrator Harriet Elliott issued a list of suggestions to housewives for the conservation of power for defense by cutting electric bills, and said "The practice of careful consumption habits now is the best preparation for the future." Miss Elliott recommended economies be practiced particularly in parts of the country where power shortages are threatened.

Labor Supply

The OPM said railroad labor and management will help meet skilled labor shortages in defense industries out of the available supply of railroad workers which includes 20,000 skilled mechanics now unemployed and 80,000 apprentices who could be promoted to release other workers. The OPM also announced 21 Gulf Coast shipyards have put into effect zone labor standards prohibiting strikes and stabilizing wages during the next two years. Federal Security Administrator McNutt said 2,500,000 jobs were filled by State Employment Services during the first six months of 1941, a gain of 52 percent over the same period in 1940.

Defense Housing

FWA Administrator Carmody said nearly 8,000 homes for defense workers an average of 256 houses a day were constructed during July 16 more houses a day than in June. Mr. Carmody said 16,167 homes were completed as of August 1, of the 90,465 approved for construction. Contracts have been let for 60,835 more, he said.

Selective Service

The Senate passed legislation authorizing extension of service of Selective Guardsmen and Reservists from 16 months to 30 months and of certain men from three to 41 years. The legislation provides for Galbraith speaking during the annual increase of $10 a month. Farm & Home Week, said for every month served in excess of one year. Congress also approved legislation deferring from military service all men who had reached their 28th birthday July 1, and authorizing resignation of men already inducted who became 28 before July 1 and whose discharge is not found contrary to the best interests of the Army.

Petroleum Coordinator Jekes said he was satisfied with first results of the nightly blackout of East Coast gasoline stations, but asked motorists to redouble efforts to cut motor fuel consumption voluntarily. He made recommendations for operators of commercial vehicles which he said would cut gas consumption about 30 percent, and announced the oil industry will give its patrons windshield stickers pledging the use of one-third less gasoline than usual. He said 82 insurance companies have contributed to the "share-your-car-campaign" by revising underwriting rules to enable motorists to carry paying passengers to and from work.

Federal Security Administrator McNutt urged immediate registration at State employment offices of all automobile service station workers who lose their jobs as a result of the drive to cut gasoline consumption, in order that they may be transferred as rapidly as possible to other work."

Consumer Administrator Harriet Elliott issued a list of suggestions to housewives for the conservation of power for defense by cutting electric bills, and said "The practice of careful consumption habits now is the best preparation for the future." Miss Elliott recommended economies be practiced particularly in parts of the country where power shortages are threatened.

"farmers...must be the natural leaders in the fight against inflation. If they take the leadership then stability is assured...To stop this price increase...we need the willingness to see price advances stopped and stopped firmly." He said prices today are more favorable to farmers than in years, but it took 20 years "to rebuild agriculture out of the wreckage left by the inflation of the last war."

Prices

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported retail food prices increased 1.5 percent during the last two weeks of July to a level almost 16 percent above August, 1939. The Federal Reserve Board said national income payments by last June had reached about $88 billion a year—19 percent above May, 1940—and said unless an unusually large part of consumer income is saved or paid out in taxes, price inflation will grow.

World Affairs

Secretary of State Hull, returning to his desk after a six-weeks absence, said "During the weeks of my absence the most clinching demonstration has been given...that there is a world movement of conquest by force, accompanied by methods of governing the conquered peoples that are rooted mainly in savagery and barbarism."

a successful resistance to the present world movement...will be made."

If you want to risk your money on the races at the various agricultural fairs and race meets this fall, it is OK by the state for the states gets a rake-off on all money that is passed, but if you want to engage in a harmless little game of Beano, you'll have to do it on the QT out behind the horse sheds, or in some other secluded spot—for Beano is a game of chance. Under the provisions of an amendment to an existing statute the state police will patrol the midways of the fairs this fall and they have been instructed to watch out very carefully for any "gum games." The state pays the fair associations a stipend "for the improvement of agriculture" which ranges all the way from $64.00 to over a thousand, but the law specifically stipulates that if there is any gambling going on or if any other games which are banned are being indulged in, the stipend will be withheld. That is what is troubling the fair directors this year, and they have been in conference with Attorney Gen Frank I. Cowan to see if some way cannot be devised to circumvent the law. Mr. Cowan can see none and has so informed the directors. So it looks as though Beano was out this fall.

One reason you see so much advertising is this:

It helps people with something to sell to find customers.

It helps those folks called "consumers" to find out about things they want to buy.

All of which is another way of saying, advertising saves a lot of time for everyone.

That's why advertising pays—on both sides of the counter.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

FILTERS

Clouds make your snapshots more interesting and forceful. Here a medium yellow filter recorded this scene just about the same as it appeared to the eye.

SUMMER is the outdoor season, and the great cloud masses standing out against a deep blue sky offer one of the best opportunities for glorifying snapshots. Given two pictures of identical subjects, in which the sky appears, it is a safe wager that your attention will be held by the one showing fluffy white clouds, and not the one with an unattractive, grayish white sky.

Photographic films are very sensitive to blue and ultra-violet light, and unless the exposure is very near correct, a blue sky will be recorded in a very light tone. We can, however, be quite certain of rendering the sky in a natural tone, with the clouds showing up a brilliant white, by slipping a color filter over the lens.

Inexpensive and easy to use, the purpose of a filter is to hold back rays of certain colors, allowing others to pass through the lens to the film. A medium yellow, commonly called a "K-2" filter, is probably the most universally used, and should be the first choice of the camera-hobbyist. It records a blue sky in approximately the relative tone/value as seen by the eye, and it is useful for obtaining better color tones in landscapes, beach scenes, sunsets, and many other outdoor subjects.

For more dramatic or special effects, there are, of course, other filters available. Of these, the deep yellow and light red are often used by the amateur in addition to the medium yellow. The former, usually referred to as a "G" filter, darkens a blue sky more than the "K-2," emphasizes foreground objects, and aids in the elimination of distant haze in landscapes. The red, or "A" filter, used only with "pan" type film, darkens blue skies still more, producing heavy, dramatic cloud effects. These three filters also render objects of their respective colors lighter in tone.

All filters including the K-2, G, and A have what are known as "factors," dependent on their density and the type of film used. This merely means that the exposure must be increased by the number of the factor. For example, with a factor of two, such as the K-2, you would double the normal exposure by using the next larger lens opening—such as 1/8 instead of 1/11 or use 1/50 of a second instead of 1/100.

Still another handy filter that is useful under certain conditions is known as a sky filter. This is a divided filter, the top half being light yellow and the bottom half clear. The design permits filtering the sky without affecting the foreground, and no increase in exposure is required. This is especially valuable when regular or a "chrome" type film is used in cameras having simple lenses and shutters.

Every camera-hobbyist should have several filters. They're easy to use and add materially to the quality and appeal of your snapshots.

THE ALKA-SELTZER WAY.

THE ANALGESIC (pain reliever) in Alka-Seltzer acts quickly because it is fully dissolved and ready to go to work as soon as you swallow it. Its pain-relieving action is made more positive by alkaline buffers which protect it and speed up its action.

Because Alka-Seltzer contains an analgesic and alkaline buffer salts, it is used by millions for the relief not only of Headache, but of Cold Symptoms, Acid Indigestion, Muscular Fatigue, "Morning After" and Muscular Pains.

LOOK M.

I FEAR BILL.

"I don't think I care to go out with you again."

"Most of last evening was wonderful, Bill. But the drive home spoiled everything."

"You behaved so nicely and acted so considerately up till the minute you got your hands on the wheel and we headed home. Then you suddenly were transformed into what seemed to me a bad-mannered and irresponsible gorilla."

"You yelled at people who had just as much right on the road as you. You disregarded white lines and signs put there for your safety. You scared my wits out by going at an absurd speed."

"That might have been considered smart once upon a time, but I assure you it's silly and childish today. Call me stuffy and prudish if you like. But I don't relish dying quite yet."

"Nor do I want to get in one of those accidents where I am just hurt. I have sense enough to realize that you and the rest of the boys wouldn't be ringing my phone if my face and body were inexplicably rearranged by a smash-up in your automobile."

"So I don't think I'll go out with you again, Bill. At least not until you've grown up enough to behave decently as a driver, and not until you realize that you owe a certain responsibility to the person you ask to share your car with."

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes fail in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove wastes that, if retained, may lead to the system and upset the whole body mechanism.

Symptoms may be ringing headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, a feeling of nervousness, and a sense of depression and listlessness. Other signs of kidney or bladder disease are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is better than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's Pills are winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
